

M. M. ELMENDORF

BA, MA, DSL

Bio

Megan M. Elmendorf is an author, educator, and mental health coach whose work ranges from children's fantasy to leadership nonfiction.

With academic training in English, creative writing, and strategic leadership, her work explores imagination, resilience, leadership, and the role of difference in shaping individuals and organizations.

Common Speaking Topics

- storytelling and narrative craft
- worldbuilding in fantasy and science fiction
- children's literature
- indie publishing
- leadership and organizational integrity
- multicultural communication
- education and lifelong learning
- creativity, collaboration, and encouragement
- mindset framing and resilience
- travel and cultural exploration

Sample Interview Questions

- What inspired you to write across both fiction and nonfiction genres?
- How does your background in leadership research influence your storytelling?
- What role does imagination play in resilience and personal growth?
- Why do speculative genres remain powerful tools for exploring real-world themes?
- What advice do you give authors pursuing independent publishing?

Areas of Interest in Literature

She writes in and supports authors in a variety of genres, including:

- Literary Fiction
- Fantasy
- Science Fiction
- Literary Fiction
- Mystery
- Historical Fiction
- Military Fiction
- Nonfiction

Speculative subgenres of interest include:

- Steampunk
- Cyberpunk
- Solarpunk
- Biopunk
- Dieselpunk
- Atompunk
- Clockpunk

Books

Children's Fantasy

The Wings of Wisdom series introduces young readers to imaginative adventures centered on courage, curiosity, and emotional growth.

Titles include:

- Kella and the Sky Dances
- Adventure Over Thunder Mountain
- A Moon Dragon for Emmaline
- Princess Maja and the Zmaj
- Roderick's Perilous Journey (tbr)
- Svanhile and the Wyvern (tbr)

Nonfiction / Leadership

- Formed by Difference: Multicultural Organizations with Integrity

Short Fiction

- Sherlock Holmes pastiche stories published with Belanger Books
- Cozy mystery stories published with Darkhouse Books

BOOK A RESERVATION

Email: elmendorf.megan@gmail.com

Contact via contact form on website